formed that the canary bird market in the Crescent City has been booming in the past few days.

Providential Interference.

The Linneus, Mo., Bulletin chronicles a case of providential interference that is worth recording: "A young man of Chariton county, in attempting to cut off a goose's head, made a mislick and chopped off a thumb. He had a contract to organize a home dramatic company at Chillicothe, which he had to cancel on account of the accident. Sometimes great blessings are reached through seeming misfortune."

Nathan is selling ready to wear wrappers for 50 cents.

Houston merchants sell Texas rice, but the business in the home product is not one-tenth what it should be. Why is that the case?
Simply because there are only two rice mills in the state, and these can not supply one-twentieth of the rice consumed in Texas. That industry has not been developed to any extent whatever in this state, and as a natural result, comparatively little rice is grown in the coast country. When south Texas cities and towns begin to erect large rice mills you will see rice farming taking the place of cotton in many counties. Create a market for the Texas farmer and he will give you the crop desired.
As long as there is no demand for diversity of products he will stick to his one crop. It is the duty of business men—the men in the cities—to set in motion the wheels of industry. You certainly can not expect farmers, many of whom have nothing but their farms, and many others not even that, to establish industries that increase the demand for agricultural products and make diversified crops a necessity.—M. E.
Foster in Houston Post.

THIS!

You recall the story of the young man behind the ribbon counter, who, with a salary of $8 a week, asked a young lady to share his lot. When she said "No," he said, "There is nothing left me but wormwood and gall." She said, "Where do you get the wormwood?"

After all, considering the present low prices of furniture, the young man's aspirations toward housekeeping were not unreasonable.
Never were such prices known before in Beaumont. It is a sore temptation to matrimony.

Especially is this true of the medium grades of furniture. Here is a chamber set which we are selling for just one-half what it would have cost four years ago. People gladly paid us $25 for such a suit as this only two years ago. To-day the price is $12.50. Think of it. Well made and good finish. A full line of cheap and high grade furniture just received at
